Columbus, OH 43215

Glass Axis Studio

610 W. Town St.
Columbus, OH 43215

Columbus, Ohio: August 12, 2015.

Hawk Galleries, Columbus Ohio. Meet visiting artists Nancy Callan and Steve Jensen at Hawk Galleries on Thursday, September 24th, 5:30pm-7:30pm and Jensen will discuss their independent work and careers with an exhibition and informal artist talks. Callan, a Seattle-based glassblower developed her playful series of work through her love of toys and comics. Additionally, Callan has honed her tremendous skills while working on renowned glassblower Lino Tagliapietra's team for the past 19 years.

Steve Jensen, of Norwegian descent, is primarily known for his boat and sculptures in wood and uses woodworking tools passed down through generations of boat builders. Recently he has taken molds of the wooden boats and cast them in crystal and bronze that feel like they've been recently discovered on the bottom of the ocean. Jensen will also exhibit his richly colored paintings of boats that appear to be levitating above the water.

Hawk Galleries is located at 153 E. Main St., Columbus OH 43215. For further information call 614-225-9595 or visit <http://hawkgalleries.com>

Glass Axis is a non-profit glass art center dedicated to making and learning.

Our new 12,700 sq. ft. art center provides artists, students, and community members the tools necessary to passionately create innovative works in glass while learning, sharing, and teaching. Member artists have access to affordable glass blowing, glass fusing, torch working, cold working, stained glass and neon facilities, plus studio, exhibition, education, outreach, and income-producing opportunities all under one roof. By linking artists to the thousands of patrons that visit the art center each year for courses, demonstrations, exhibitions, and special events, Glass Axis becomes a civic hub of art production and community participation, bolstering sustainable cultural equity throughout Ohio and beyond.
